

Pathway Courses

Food Science & Nutrition

This course is designed to help students explore the exciting world of food and nutrition. Students will explore beyond familiar foods and preparation methods. A multicultural, multi-ethnic emphasis will encourage students to try new foods, leading students to develop scientific and inquiry skills, preparing them to become nutritionally literate and able to make smart food choices. Students will sharpen critical thinking and problem-solving skills as well as apply math and science principles with hands-on exercises and experiments. These will help students develop the skills and knowledge needed to become an informed food consumer. It will help students understand the consequences of their food choices. It will also allow them to become involved in both the science and creativity of preparing nutritious meals and snacks.

Hospitality

Students will study the evolution of the hospitality industry and how it is currently stratified. Organizational systems, management and career opportunities and salaries will be examined. Hospitality service management is viewed from both a consumer and business perspective. This course provides an overview of the hospitality and tourism industry, its growth and development, industry segments and their distinguishing characteristics, plus current trends and concerns. Students are introduced to career opportunities and the employability skills needed to succeed in specific hospitality fields.

Culinary Arts

Professional chefs get fulfillment by combining their creativity with a love of food to delight their guests and customers. The Culinary Arts course will allow you to explore this exciting and rewarding career. The food service industry employs over 13 million people and professional chefs are in great demand for work in restaurants, hotels, airlines, schools, health care facilities, railroads, and cruise lines. In addition to meal planning and preparation, students will study culinary fundamentals, ingredients and nutrition, and meal presentation.
