Community College Advising

Earlier this month Clovis Community College along with Fresno City College met with all of our seniors for Advising Day. Seniors got the opportunity to sit down with a community college counselor to discuss their future courses and goals, creating a Student Education Plan. For those seniors that were unable to meet and complete their advising with a community college counselor please use this link to schedule a make up advising session. RTG Make-Up Advising

Mask up, Mask On

Please remember you MUST wear your mask fully over your nose and under your chin at all times while indoors. This includes the interior hallways during passing periods, breaks or any other time. Thank you! If your masks gets lost or misplaced please head to your nearest office to get a disposable mask.

Sophomore Conferences

In January, counselors visited English classes for Sophomore Conferences. Counselors went over graduation & A-G requirements, NCAA eligibility, and future career and post secondary options. During the conferences, students used Xello to do some career exploration along with completing a personality and learning assessment. The Xello activity was utilized to better understand how each individual student learned and gave them insight on careers that may match student's personalities and interests.

Students were also able to complete a Sophomore Conference Form, mapping out possible courses for their next two years of high school. On this form students were provided a copy of their transcript to track and monitor courses they have passed/failed throughout their high school careers. For those Sophomores that have yet to complete their conference form please visit the Counseling Center's Sophomore Google Classroom to complete the form and review the presentation from that day.
